Walker's "Trident" Electric Ship-Log

The instrument which enables the Navigating Officer

TO READ THE LOG IN THE CHART ROOM

A great advantage at night or in fog.

In the Walker Patent Log, the driving element (the Rotator) is streamed clear of the ship's hull and is therefore not affected by frictional wake and other disturbances which vary with the speed and shape of the vessel. This principle ensures a reliable and accurate record of "distance run."

"BRITAIN'S WESTERN GATEWAYS"

The South Wales Docks of the Great Western Railway Company at CARDIFF, SWANSEA, NEWPORT, BARRY, PORT TALBOT and PENARTH are world-renowned as avenues of a great ocean trade. They are natural portals for exports from and imports to the densely-populated districts of South Wales and the Midlands of England. PLYMOUTH is well known as our westernmost Ocean Liner Port—the Gateway into England from the Atlantic. Excellent G.W.R. tenders meet all Liners, and travellers have an extra day in England by landing or embarking at Plymouth. Many other ports on the South and West coasts from London round to Birkenhead are directly served by the Great Western Railway.

Kent Clear View Screen.

'T' Type Steam Flow Meter.

'M' Type Oil Meter.

KENT CLEAR VIEW SCREEN

The revolving glass disc of the Kent clear view screen throws off rain, snow or spray so that vision remains perfectly clear and sharp. Kent screens are fitted on liners, warships, tankers, trawlers, police sloops, tugs and motor boats.

KENT METERS

George Kent Ltd., supply meters for accurate measurement of the flow of steam, water, gas, oil or any other flow, whatever the quantity or pressure ; also equipment for controlling flow, temperature, pressure and level, and for the automatic control of boilers.

Kent's have made meters for fifty years, and were the original British makers of the Venturi Meter as well as the pioneers of flow measurement by the orifice method.

Their works at Luton employ over 1,000 men on the design and production of meters and controllers.

THE 'T' TYPE FOR STEAM

Sturdy and compact design together with an absense of mercury or other fluid medium, make the Kent 'T' type the ideal steam meter for ships.

THE 'M' TYPE FOR OIL

'M' type oil meters are accurate and durable and are made in sizes from ½" to 3".

THE MERCANTILE NAVY LIST

THE List is divided into three divisions: (1) Steam, (2) Motor, and (3) Sailing. Vessels which are fitted with auxiliary motors are included in both the Motor and Sailing divisions, their names being printed in italics.

The List has been corrected to 30th November, 1935. Lists of vessels for which reports of registration were received during December, 1935, are given in the Appendix.

The international code signals for visual signalling purposes are now inserted. These include (1) in the case of ships registered at ports in Great Britain and Northern Ireland (a) all ships fitted with wireless for which signal letters have been registered and (b) all ships not fitted with wireless for which signal letters have been registered; (2) in the case of British ships registered outside Great Britain and Northern Ireland all ships the signal letters of which have been reported to the Registrar General of Shipping and Seamen by the authorities concerned. In the case of ships fitted with wireless the signal letters shewn are the same as the ships' radio call signs.

The name and address of the Owner, or Part Owner, are printed in ordinary type.

A cross prefixed to the name of any person signifies that he is registered as "Managing Owner" under section 59 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

The printing of the name and address of any person in italics signifies that such person, though not the owner of shares, has, under section 59 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, been registered in the United Kingdom as the person ("Manager" or "Ship's Husband") to whom the management of the ship has been entrusted.

Great care has been taken in the compilation of this book, but should any typographical or other errors be detected it is requested that they may be pointed out to the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, at the address given below, in order that the necessary corrections may be made in the next Edition.

NOTICE

The International Code of Signals.

This Code is the universal means of communication between the Ships and Signal Stations of all nations. In accordance with the decision of the International Code of Signals Committee of the Washington Radiotelegraph Conference, endorsed by the International Radiotelegraph Conference of Madrid, 1932, it has been entirely revised and the new Code came into force on the 1st January, 1934. It was decided that there should be seven editorial editions of the Code, namely: In English, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Norwegian, and Spanish languages. It consists of two volumes, one for use by Radiotelegraphy, the other by Visual Signalling.

The International Code is the only Code now used at the Signal Stations on our coasts, and at the Signal and Semaphore Stations of other countries, and the officers at these Stations have no means of understanding or signalling by any other Code.

It is therefore important that ships should be provided with the means of signalling by this Code, as cases have been reported in which officers at the Signal Station have hoisted the International Code Signals warning ships of danger and the ships have been afterwards lost from the inability of the Masters to read the signals.

Ships should be provided with the latest edition of the International Code of Signals, together with supplements showing all the corrections made from time to time. The Code and Supplements can be obtained directly from H.M. Stationery Office at the addresses given on the title page, or through any bookseller.

"Signal Letters of British Ships."

This book is prepared for the purpose of enabling officers at Signal Stations on shore and Masters of ships at sea to signal and report passing ships. It includes, in the case of ships registered at ports in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, all ships fitted with Wireless whose radio call signs have been registered as signal letters, and all ships not fitted with Wireless for which signal letters have been registered; and it includes, in the case of British ships registered outside Great Britain and Northern Ireland, all ships the signal letters of which have been reported to the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen by the authorities concerned. It also contains the names and distinguishing signal letters of certain unregistered British ships to which signal letters have been allotted. In the case of ships fitted with Wireless, the signal letters shown in this list are the same as the letters composing the ships' radio call signs.

Digitized by Google

The "Signal Letters of British Ships" is published annually, and monthly supplements are also issued, which can be obtained from the Stationery Office at the addresses given on the title page.

In accordance with the International Code of Signals, the first letter or the first and second letters of a visual signal group always indicate the nationality of the ship and the following table shows the allocation of initial letters so far as British ships are concerned :—

Signal Letters.	Country.
CF—CK, CY—CZ	Canada.
EI	Irish Free State.
G, M	Great Britain and Northern Ireland.
VA—VG	Canada.
VH—VM	Commonwealth of Australia.
VO	Newfoundland.
VP—VS	British Colonies and Protectorates.
VT—VW	British India.
VX—VY	Canada.
XY—XZ	British India.
ZB—ZJ	British Colonies and Protectorates.
ZK—ZM	New Zealand.
ZS—ZU	Union of South Africa.

Method of Obtaining Signal Letters

In the case of ships registered in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, application for the allotment of signal letters should be made to the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, Tower Hill, E.C. 3, on forms which can be obtained from any Registrar of Shipping in Great Britain or Northern Ireland. In the case of ships registered outside Great Britain and Northern Ireland, application should be made to the Registrar of Shipping at the port of registry.

Whenever possible the ship's Certificate of Registry should accompany the application for signal letters, in order that the letters, when allocated may be marked on the certificate.

Commercial Maritime Signalling

The Corporation of Lloyd's has the control and working of Signal Stations in Great Britain and in many places abroad. Various foreign Governments recognise the advantage of reports from Signal Stations being collected and forwarded on identical conditions and have arranged that reports from and to their Stations can be obtained and forwarded through Lloyd's. Thus one universal system of receiving and transmitting maritime reports extends over a wide area.

Shipowners and others can obtain telegraphic or postal advices with regard to any vessel in which they may be interested, or transmit orders to such vessels, by communicating with the Principal Clerk, Lloyd's, London, E.C. 3.

Digitized by Google

Most of the Coast Wireless Stations in Great Britain and Northern Ireland belonging to the General Post Office notify Lloyd's with regard to the positions and movements of ships and other maritime intelligence.

GALE WARNING SERVICE

The Meteorological Office issues notices to ports, and to certain fishing stations recommended by responsible local authorities, of threatening atmospheric disturbances on or near the coasts of the British Islands.

*At this Station arrangements have been made to take in any messages made at night by means of a flashing lamp in accordance with the Morse Code as laid down in the International Code of Signals Book. Messages may be transmitted from this Station to vessels by flashing lamp in the same manner.

Digitized by Google

On receipt of advice from the Meteorological Office of the probable approach of a gale, † Warning signals are hoisted at various places round the coast.* The hoisting of a gale warning signal indicates that a gale is expected within a distance of 50 or 100 miles of the place where the signal is hoisted.

Normally a gale may be expected to develop within 10 hours of the time of hoisting the signal, but occasionally the period of development may be 20 or even 30 hours.

The gale warning signal is lowered when the gale has passed and it is anticipated that there will be a period of not less than 12 hours free from gales and high winds. Gales sometimes follow one another in quick succession, consequently the gale warning signal is left flying during a temporary abatement of the wind if a renewal of the gale is expected within a short time.

Warning Signals

The gale warning signals are :—

By Day.—A black painted cone, 3 feet high and 3 feet wide at the base.

By Night.—3 white lights in an isosceles triangle, the 2 lights at the base being 4 feet apart.

(Note.—Night signals are only exhibited at a very few stations.)

The North Cone.—When the gale warning signal takes the form of the North Cone (i.e. the cone hoisted with the point upwards) it may be expected that the gale will commence from a northerly point.

In the case of gales commencing from the east or west the North Cone is also hoisted if the gale is expected to change to a Northerly direction.

The South Cone.—When the gale warning signal takes the form of the South Cone (i.e. the cone hoisted with the point downwards) gales from a southerly point may be expected : such gales often veer, sometimes as far as north-west.

In the case of gales commencing from the east or west the South Cone is also hoisted if the gale is expected to change to a Southerly direction.

† In connexion with the Gale Warning Service the term " Gale " is used for winds of force 8 and above on the Beaufort Scale.

* A list of Storm Signal Stations is published in Annual and in Weekly Notices to Mariners (Admiralty) No. 13/1936.
